We started to follow up production efficiency indicators with Promanage online since 2010. In addition to following up production efficiency in real-time, Promanage has contributed our engineers to be more analytical about the problems and ensured that all employees are actively involved in the process through visual, easy-to-understand indicators. Otherwise, Promanage became an important solution partner by meeting our demand in the shortest period of time when our company requested special requests. Dostel managers who believe in the continuity of development and change with all their heart are constantly supporting the expansion and development of all the production plants for Promanage.

Best regards.
